This episode sees Christine learning firsthand the very challenging 'how to' of harvesting sea salt in Thailand's dramatically beautiful salt fields. Cushing visits the area's most unusual market that is regularly disrupted by the MaeKlong Railway going right through it's center! She cooks alongside chefs preserving traditional Chinese cuisine in Bangkok and at Singapore's oldest Chinese restaurant, Spring Court, Christine discovers Singapore Chinese cuisine and meets with culinary legend; Madam Soon.
20240501	09:30:00	10:10:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scubadiving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240501	10:45:00	11:30:00	ISLAND HUNTER - BELIZE, EP 6	Island Hunter showcases beautiful Belize; with hundreds of kilometers of coastline with the Caribbean sea, the 2nd largest barrier reef, and one of the best dive sites in the world, how could you not? In this episode, Dani Kristo is on a mission to showcase the best of Belize; she starts off her journey with some adventure at the Bocawina resort; the hub for adventure in Belize. Zip lining through the jungle canopies, Dani is charged up for the rest of her adventure. Checking out the fabled Xunantunich ruins near the Guatemalan border, a stay at the super lavish jungle eco resort, Blancaneaux, these stops define Belize. But it's more than just luxury destinations. To get a taste of culture, Dani gets the lead on Palmento grove, an authentic Garifuna enclave in the sleepy village of Hopkins. The theme of luxury living continues as Dani comes across Turtle Inn, a one of a kind all-inclusive resort at the coast of Placencia. But, for the ultimate in island paradise getaway, a 35 min boat ride from Turtle Inn, leads to Coral Caye. Here, Dani experiences what a private island experience is all about. This is Belize in it's truest form.
20240501	11:30:00	12:25:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED - MEXICO, EP 8	A continuation from the previous episode, Jonathan Legg's Mexico adventure takes a new turn; the continuous pumping of Mexico's lakes has caused not only a water shortage, but a seismic issue. He pinballs around the vast city to gain an understanding into this complex issue; a quest that leads him to NGOs to innovative solutions that can shed a light on this issue. Finally, he wraps up his adventure in the beautiful remote village of Oaxaca province where he undergoes a sacred mushroom ritual, administered by the same tribe that brought this knowledge and sacrament to worldwide attention.
20240501	12:25:00	12:45:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.
20240501	12:45:00	13:40:00	WARRIORS FOR WILDLIFE, EP 3	In the final episode they travel to the vast and beautiful Entibeni Reserve high on the stunning Waterberg Plateau. It is incredible rich in wildlife, elephant, rhino, and a plethora of animals all roam free, it's also Lion country. The recruits set up camp by a lake to tackle the last part of the grueling program, Faced with life or death prospect of being alone in the bush with lions. Intelligence alerts them of potential poacher incursion, they are sent to guard a Rhino orphanage, and in an incidents that becomes violent, they arrest two suspicious illegal immigrants.
20240501	13:40:00	14:25:00	INK THERAPY - EP 3	The cast tracks Charlie's progress as he works on getting his vintage '47 Caddilac running.

20240501	17:10:00	17:55:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN PENGUINS	RhinThe African Penguin has been shifted from Vulnerable to Endangered on the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species, Birdlife International announced. African Penguins have been sliding towards extinction since industrial fishing started around the Cape. The last four years have seen a population crash. As the climate changes and fisheries transform the oceans, the world's African Penguins are in trouble. Young Penguins aren't able to take all the changes into account and are finding themselves 'trapped' in parts of the sea that can no longer support them even as better options are available.o poaching is currently at a crisis point. By the end of 2015, the number of African Rhinos killed by poachers had increased for the sixth year in a row with at least 1,338 Rhinos killed by poachers across Africa in 2015. These statistics are compiled by International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Species Survival Commission's African Rhino Specialist Group (AFRSG).

20240502	03:15:00	04:05:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED MONTENEGRO	The land of mountains and pristine lakes! In this episode, Jonathan gets on a motorcycle to explore the countryside. He embarks on a Don-Quixote type journey, alluding to the origin story of author Miguel Cervantes and his 'supposed' stint in Montenegro, in a jail cell. Jonathan rides down the fantastically beautiful Kotor bay, learning about medieval armor and the city's history. While on his road trip, Jonathan also uncovers Tito's secret bunker, fully exploring the lavish estate on his own whims - as well as abandoned submarine silos, hidden bunkers from the Soviet era, and much more. No trip to Montenegro is complete without a visit to the countryside, this is where Jonathan comes across authentic cuisine, and a rescue mission with volunteers that patrol the harsh but beautiful mountains of Montenegro.
20240502	04:05:00	05:00:00	SKYSCRAPER IN 51 DAYS	A 40-meter high, 14-story apartment complex - erected in just 51 days. A construction boom in the Russian capital has been going on for years now. In 2017 the government decided to tear down communist apartment blocks (infamous for shoddy construction): around 4,000 buildings from the 1950s and 1960s are being replaced with modern high-rises. A politically significant infrastructure program - the pressure on construction companies is high.
20240502	05:00:00	06:00:00	ZABARDAST	The intimate travel diary of an incredible Freeride expedition into the heart of the Karakoram range. The search for one of the most beautiful mountains to ski on the planet, standing at 5880m. An adventure so remote, so high, so committed that no mistakes were allowed. During five weeks, the crew pushed deeper and deeper inside Pakistan, with a 150 km loop in complete autonomy, pulling sleds filled with food, tents and solar panels across gigantic glaciers. As far from home as one can get. A meeting point of Freeriding and Mountaineering. A true adventure.

20240502	09:05:00	09:50:00	THE RED LIST - SOUTHERN GROUND HORNBILL	The charismatic Southern Ground-Hornbill is a bird that many people already know well. They are culturally important as the 'thunder' or 'rain' birds and are a flagship species for the savannah biome. At present, Southern Ground-Hornbills are considered within South Africa as 'Endangered', with their numbers outside of formally protected areas still declining. It is likely that the birds will soon meet the IUCN Red Data List Criteria as being 'Critically Endangered' in South Africa. It's estimated that only 1500 Ground-Hornbills are left in South Africa, of which half are safe within the protected areas. This means there are only an estimated 417 breeding groups in the whole of South Africa, data shows that, on average, only one chick is raised to adulthood every 9 years. The reasons for their decline are predominantly loss of habitat to croplands, bush-encroachment, overgrazing and plantations, loss of nesting trees, secondary poisoning and electrocution.

20240502	09:50:00	10:45:00	WARRIORS FOR WILDLIFE, EP 1	Get up close and personal with a group of International recruits as they tackle one of the toughest training courses on the planet, in order to become the next generation of Anti-Poaching Rangers, and help save endangered species from extinction. This returnable series, shot on 4k UHD over 5 weeks in three remote South Africa locations, gains exclusive access and gets close to the action and under the skin of these young people who are prepared to risk their own existence, to save the world's wildlife for future generations. Some recruits will succeed and some will have their dreams shattered and not make it to phase two.
20240502	10:45:00	11:15:00	MAX FOODIE: MAURITIUS - CHAPTER 2	Mauritius is the east African nation prosperously humming away, producing delicious African rum with it's abundant sugarcane supply; but the story is more than that! Sashi drives around this island nation to get the full culinary scene lowdown; from street food vibes in Port Louis, to stints with the best chefs on the island to what luxury resorts have on offer; explore Mauritius from the ground level and witness why this East African jewel of an island nation is drawing travelers from around the world!
20240502	11:15:00	11:45:00	MAX FOODIE: BANGKOK	Sashi is in Bangkok, Thailand and exploring the stories of the city's brightest culinary stars. Chef Ton takes Sashi to his favorite hang out spots to eat around Bangkok. In the next episode, Sashi is hanging out at the illustrious Sukhothai where he's having lunch with Chef David Tamburini, the head honcho at La Scala. Sashi gets a taste of David's ethos of naturalmente, where David brings Sicilian home-grown authenticity to Asia. After a fantastic meal, Sashi meets back up with Chef Ton and they embark on a field trip to Koh Sichang. Chef Ton wants to illustrate the lengths he goes to, in order to support his suppliers like his fishermen. Sashi and Ton head into the Gulf of Thailand on a daring boat ride to catch a blue spotted grouper - a journey that showcases the arduous task of what it means to be an ethical chef.
20240502	11:45:00	12:30:00	PHOTO NUMBER 6, EP 7	We leave the bright lights of Vegas and head for the scenic splendor of UTAH. First stop is the Dixie Rodeo in St George for a celebration of Americana and intense cowboy action. The dismay continues in an exploration of Ice Hockey at the training ground for the UTAH Grizzlies where Fletch is asked to be guest goalie for the day. The road trip ventures south to Monument Valley where Fletch fulfills a lifetime dream to photograph the magnificent scenery and meet with local Navajo residents to explore their connection with the land.
20240502	12:30:00	12:55:00	BLUE WORLD - MAYAN UNDERWORLD (YUCATAN, MEXICO)	Deep in the heart of Mexico's Yucatan, Jonathan is exploring remote cenotes in the jungle that were once used for Mayan rituals. Just reaching the surface of the water requires rappelling down from the forest above. But then, beneath the surface, he encounters strange alien life forms that live in total darkness, and the remains of humans and animal sacrifices from an ancient culture.
20240502	12:55:00	13:20:00	BLUE WORLD - FLOWER GARDEN BANKS + SEA HUNT FOREVER FESTIVAL	In the Flower Garden Banks National Marine Sanctuary, Jonathan investigates some of the densest coral reefs in the Caribbean as they spawn under cover of darkness. 20240502	18:30:00	19:25:00	FOOD UNKNOWN - PHILIPPINES, EP 1	Food Unknown takes a detailed look at well known and less popular destinations to gain an intimate level of understanding why their cuisine hasn't reigned supreme? The nation of 7,000 islands has no problems with beach, sun, or sea; but they suffer tremendously with cuisine image. Jonathan lands in Manila to discover the top chefs are well aware of the issue and, following their advice, he launches off on an expedition to find part of the solution. Driving from headhunting tribal villages, to step-back-in-time colonial towns, to restaurants in the shadow of the American military behemoth an intriguing story slowly pieces together. In the dense jungle one treasure stays buried while another comes literally out of the woodwork. But danger always lurks.. zombie moray eels, landslide prone passes, and forbidden fields behind the rice paddies.

20240502	19:25:00	19:50:00	MAX FOODIE: INDIA, EP 3	Liesel pinballs around a city known for its gastronomy, the forgotten hub of British East India trading company, Kolkata. From trying out what the bustling city's vibrant street food scene has to offer, to the lesser known gems, including, venturing into India's only Chinatown and sampling their delicacies. A tale of walking food tours, hole in the wall joints serving up North Eastern dumplings, messy fish markets, and of course, the pride of Bengal, the Hilsa fish. Is Kolkata up to par with the other major metropolitan cities of India? This episode finds out exactly that!

20240503	01:20:00	01:45:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.

20240503	06:50:00	07:40:00	ISLAND HUNTER - PHILIPPINES, EP 8	This Island Hunter episode explores one of Philippines 7000+ islands, and this particular island is voted by most travel publications to be the most beautiful in the world. We are of course talking about the island of Palawan. In this episode, Host Mizziel Serra starts of her exploration in the bustling city of Manila; she explores the walled city of Intramuros, the Spanish seat during their colonization, as well as Binondo, the world's oldest Chinatown! After meeting the gang at STKD SurfMoto, Mizziel gets hooked up with a customized Ducati Scrambler and she explores the island of Luzon on 2 wheels, where her journey ends up at the iconic Pico de Loro. From there, she ventures up to her final moto destination, the surf town of La Union, where she gets a hands on lesson with the local surfing champ. From here on, she island hops and explores the luxury side of Palawan Island. Mizziel gets to check out what the El Nido property has to offer travelers by exploring all 3 resorts in the protected Palawan Marine reserve. This is Philippines like you've never seen before!
20240503	07:40:00	08:25:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

Behind Bars takes you into prisons from around the world, and the true stories of inmates who find themselves inside maximum security lockdown, in the harshest conditions. Colony Eight – one of the toughest and most notorious prisons in Ukraine. It is said that no one has ever managed to escape from here! Over eight hundred prisoners are behind bars in Colony 8 under maximum security. Until twenty years ago, the guards even carried out death sentences at this prison. Not any more – the concept is now a different one. Plenty of “freedom” on the one hand, draconian punishment and military drill on the other. Combined with permanent supervision: Around seventy cameras in the buildings ensure that anything moving gets noticed. One section of the prison is particularly notorious – the wing for the one hundred and sixty lifers: If you end up in this wing, you have absolutely nothing to lose. Because in Ukraine, life imprisonment means: literally being behind bars until you die.

20240505	11:05:00	11:45:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 4	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Caribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240505	13:45:00	14:40:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED - HONG KONG, EP 6	Jonathan Legg is in Asia's world city, Hong Kong! It's an all out assault on the senses with all things opulent and luxurious; high end art collectors to the priciest wines in the world, super car aficionados and helicopter getaways from skyscraper rooftops; this is the road less traveled from a different point of view. But Hong Kong is more than just big money; Jonathan digs deep into the humanity to uncover a sect of unassuming Jains that are trying to practice their religion in a nondescript building. He gets a taste of Jeet Kun Do from Bruce Lee's student, and this foray in martial arts also leads Jonathan deep into the legendary world of Hong Kong's cinema's stuntmen. Between exploring the back gardens of Sai Kung on a kayak and exploring Japanese fortifications on the island, this is Hong Kong like you've never seen before!

20240505	14:40:00	15:35:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED VIETNAM	Jonathan is back in Vietnam! Viewers might remember his jaunts in Hanoi from Season 2, where he picked up locals on his tandem bicycle in an effort to learn their stories. This time, Jonathan's goal is more ambitious: still on 2 wheels, but now with a motor, he heads south all the way from Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh. In this epic voyage, he is in search of Vietnam's modern day heroes; he uncovers the tale of farm rebellions, underground bunkers, a novel martial art cultivated in the farmlands, an underground village that survived countless American bombings, hidden amphitheaters, and the legendary Champa ruins. Between countless roadtrip-style stops, foodie finds, crossing the Hai Van pass, and coming across fascinating stories in his final destination of Ho Chi Minh, this is the best way to coronate season 5 - a proper motorcycle road trip through Vietnam.
20240505	15:35:00	16:20:00	THE RED LIST - VULTURES	Six of Africa's 11 Vulture species – the continent's largest and most recognizable birds of prey – are now at a higher risk of extinction, according to the latest assessment of birds carried out by BirdLife International for the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species™. The main causes of the drop in African Vulture populations are thought to be indiscriminate poisonings, where the birds are drawn to poisoned baits, use of Vulture body parts in traditional medicine, and deliberate targeting by poachers, as the presence of Vultures can alert authorities to illegally killed big game carcasses. Robbing the African skies of one of their most iconic and spectacular groups of birds, the rapid decline of the continent's Vultures has profound consequences for its people – as Vultures help stop the spread of diseases by cleaning up rotting carcasses.

We are in Tychy – where the local factory has been producing an automotive hit for the last 10 years – the tiny Fiat 500. The successor of the iconic Fiat 500 which motorized Europe in the 1960s and 1970s is an extremely modern car. We will witness the emergence of the two hundred millionth copy of this wonderful car.
20240506	08:10:00	09:05:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED MONTENEGRO	The land of mountains and pristine lakes! In this episode, Jonathan gets on a motorcycle to explore the countryside. He embarks on a Don-Quixote type journey, alluding to the origin story of author Miguel Cervantes and his 'supposed' stint in Montenegro, in a jail cell. Jonathan rides down the fantastically beautiful Kotor bay, learning about medieval armor and the city's history. While on his road trip, Jonathan also uncovers Tito's secret bunker, fully exploring the lavish estate on his own whims - as well as abandoned submarine silos, hidden bunkers from the Soviet era, and much more. No trip to Montenegro is complete without a visit to the countryside, this is where Jonathan comes across authentic cuisine, and a rescue mission with volunteers that patrol the harsh but beautiful mountains of Montenegro.
20240506	09:05:00	09:55:00	SKYSCRAPER IN 51 DAYS	A 40-meter high, 14-story apartment complex - erected in just 51 days. A construction boom in the Russian capital has been going on for years now. In 2017 the government decided to tear down communist apartment blocks (infamous for shoddy construction): around 4,000 buildings from the 1950s and 1960s are being replaced with modern high-rises. A politically significant infrastructure program - the pressure on construction companies is high.
20240506	09:55:00	10:20:00	BLUE WORLD GRAND CAYMAN & FLORIDA	In Florida, Blue World joins a shark researcher investigating the mysterious gathering of thousands of Blacktip sharks every spring, just offshore. 20240506	10:20:00	11:15:00	HORSES	No other animal has influenced our lives as much as the horse. Our entire history is indivisibly linked to this animal. This documentary portrays a relationship that goes far beyond what we imagine. Although the use of horses has fallen drastically since the start of the Industrial Revolution, our hearts still beat as one; when we look through their eyes, we see ourselves. When we think of free- dom... of harmony... of beauty... of nobility... of strength... of speed... we think of horses as a reference point... HORSES
20240506	11:15:00	11:40:00	BLUE WORLD PALAU	The Blue World team travels to Palau on an adventure to explore reefs teeming with life, plus a mysterious lake filled with thousands of harmless non-stinging jellyfish.

This episode sees Christine learning firsthand the very challenging 'how to' of harvesting sea salt in Thailand's dramatically beautiful salt fields. Cushing visits the area's most unusual market that is regularly disrupted by the Maeklong Railway going right through it's center! She cooks alongside chefs preserving traditional Chinese cuisine in Bangkok and at Singapore's oldest Chinese restaurant, Spring Court, Christine discovers Singapore Chinese cuisine and meets with culinary legend; Madam Soon.
20240506	15:10:00	15:55:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240506	16:25:00	17:15:00	ISLAND HUNTER - HONG KONG, EP 5	Hong Kong is Asia's world city and this episode is a complete 360 from the melee of tropical island paradises. Hong Kong is famous for it's skyscraper strewn skyline and in this episode, local girl Lesley Chiang is on a mission to show a different side of Hong Kong. Her journey starts off in Hong Kong bay where she gets a taste of the 5 star life at the Ritz Carlton. Pampering at the 108th floor spa, dining at Michelin 2 star rated Ting Lung Heen, and beyond! Lesley checks out the art scene of Soho, and PMQ, an establishment geared towards Hong Kong's budding arts and crafts talent. At night time, local nightlife expert Johannes Pong shows Lesley the wild side of town as they bounce around the latest bars and clubs. When it's time to chow, Jowett Yu, a rising star in the culinary world shows Lesley his favorite hometown hang outs; roast geese to yummy sea food bites. Taking a break from Hong Kong island, Lesley also checks out the nearby Lantau island where she gets a taste of zen; from Hiking on the lantau trail to seeing the Tian tan Buddha - this feeling of zen continues as she checks out the colonial landmark turned boutique resort, Tai O. It's an episode of fast paced modern life, top rated seafood and how to find respite from it all. This is Island Hunter; Hong Kong

20240506	17:15:00	18:10:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED - MEXICO, EP 8	A continuation from the previous episode, Jonathan Legg's Mexico adventure takes a new turn; the continuous pumping of Mexico's lakes has caused not only a water shortage, but a seismic issue. He pinballs around the vast city to gain an understanding into this complex issue; a quest that leads him to NGOs to innovative solutions that can shed a light on this issue. Finally, he wraps up his adventure in the beautiful remote village of Oaxaca province where he undergoes a sacred mushroom ritual, administered by the same tribe that brought this knowledge and sacrament to worldwide attention.
20240506	18:10:00	18:35:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.

Blue World joins a team of seal researchers on Cape Cod, and dives with these adorable pups of the sea to tell their story. Then we travel to the town of Oslob in the Philippines, where the local people have switched from hunting whale sharks to getting them to perform for tourists, proving that sharks are worth more alive than dead.
20240507	13:10:00	13:55:00	BREAKING THE DAY - ADVENTURE PHOTOGRAPHER, EP 6	As a nomadic adventure photographer, Krystle Wright is used to heading into the unknown. But her latest ambition to capture a rock climber on the famous Tasmanian spire, the Totem Pole, while suspended above the ocean, has never been done before.
20240507	13:55:00	14:40:00	PHOTO NUMBER 6, EP 8	Fletch and Stig explore the diversity of this extraordinary North African country by journeying from Sea to Sand, beginning in the port of Essaouira, dominated by its fishing industry and fortress battlements and made famous by the television series Game of Thrones and ending in the magnificent Sahara Desert to meet Bedouin nomads and explore its vast emptiness and lush oases. Along the way they take in the vibrant tourist mecca of Marrakesh, sampling the culinary and sensory delights of this magical city.
20240507	14:40:00	15:25:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SWEET, S3 EP 2	Chinese cuisines use sugar very differently from Western cuisines, and Christine starts her comparison in Paris and Athens where she looks at how Westerners interpret 'sweet'. Traditionally, for the Chinese, sugar is predominantly used to achieve balance, but the liberal use of sugars in South East Asia Chinese cuisines are a culinary surprise. 'Sweet' is most traditionally found in the simple and omnipresent ingredient rice, so Cushing is off to the rice paddies of Malaysia follow the process of planting and processing.
20240507	15:25:00	16:10:00	DREAM JOURNEY - HOLBOX ISLAND, EP 2	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for more!"
20240507	16:10:00	16:35:00	AT HOME WITH DIDIAYER - NASHVILLE: MUSIC CITY USA, EP 4	As we pull into Music City, we're already "making it"! Nashville's first woman mayor shares her insights on the future of the city. Phil Vassar turns an interview into a celebration of song. We "rough it" a couple nights at the Gaylord Opry, and interview the "interviewer"! Oh yeah, we also stop by Jack's place. Daniels that is.

20240507	16:35:00	17:25:00	ISLAND HUNTER - PHILIPPINES, EP 8	This Island Hunter episode explores one of Philippines 7000+ islands, and this particular island is voted by most travel publications to be the most beautiful in the world. We are of course talking about the island of Palawan. In this episode, Host Mizziel Serra starts of her exploration in the bustling city of Manila; she explores the walled city of Intramuros, the Spanish seat during their colonization, as well as Binondo, the world's oldest Chinatown! After meeting the gang at STKD SurfMoto, Mizziel gets hooked up with a customized Ducati Scrambler and she explores the island of Luzon on 2 wheels, where her journey ends up at the iconic Pico de Loro. From there, she ventures up to her final moto destination, the surf town of La Union, where she gets a hands on lesson with the local surfing champ. From here on, she island hops and explores the luxury side of Palawan Island. Mizziel gets to check out what the El Nido property has to offer travelers by exploring all 3 resorts in the protected Palawan Marine reserve. This is Philippines like you've never seen before!
20240507	17:25:00	18:15:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED - CYPRUS, EP 9	Jonathan Legg hops on 2 wheels to explore the beautiful Mediterranean island of Cyprus. 20240508	06:25:00	06:45:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.
20240508	06:45:00	07:30:00	VISITING - COLOR	Color: "The quality of an object or substance with respect to light reflected by the object, usually determined visually by measurement of hue, saturation, and brightness of the reflected light; saturation or chroma." A very robotic description of an incredibly dynamic property of the universe. Earth is a varied landscape of extremes of millions of colors. Through the lens of the "Visitor" we experience our mosaic landscape from a sense of imagination and wonder. "Why do these colors exist?" "What properties in nature create the conditions that these colors live in?" Using a scientific and artistic viewpoint we explore environments around the world that display the palette of the Earth. Life and Death, artificial and natural, the colors of the Earth exposes the kaleidoscope of this planet like never before...

20240508	07:30:00	07:55:00	MAX FOODIE: PHILIPPINES PART 2	The story of cacao is more akin to South America, but in this episode, Sashi tracks the story of cacao in the Philippines, the entry point of cacao in Asia. With his friend, Spanish chef, Chele Gonzalez, they embark on an anthropological exploration tracing how the ancestral varietal cacao (crillio) came to be in the Philippine islands. Visiting farms to mystical islands, to top kitchens in Manila, this is the 'never-before-told' tale of cacao in the Philippine islands.

20240508	14:35:00	15:25:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SOUR, S3 EP 3	According to science humans are the only mammals that are attracted to sour. Chinese medicinal believes says that 'sour' can help digestion and whet the appetite. In 3 traditional Chinese cuisines it is often used for balance but in south East Asian versions of Chinese dishes it is often quite forward even becoming part of the name of a dish particularly in traditional Peranakan Chinese cuisines. A cuisine (and a people) that Christine discovers for the first time. Christine joins Malaysian celebrity Chef Wan for a one of a kind experience, cooking in a traditional old Peranakan kitchen and making the food of Chef Wan's heritage.
20240508	15:25:00	16:10:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 3	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey;) I simply cannot wait for

20240509	15:35:00	16:25:00	THE RED LIST - VULTURES	Six of Africa's 11 Vulture species – the continent's largest and most recognizable birds of prey – are now at a higher risk of extinction, according to the latest assessment of birds carried out by BirdLife International for the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species™. The main causes of the drop in African Vulture populations are thought to be indiscriminate poisonings, where the birds are drawn to poisoned baits, use of Vulture body parts in traditional medicine, and deliberate targeting by poachers, as the presence of Vultures can alert authorities to illegally killed big game carcasses. Robbing the African skies of one of their most iconic and spectacular groups of birds, the rapid decline of the continent's Vultures has profound consequences for its people – as Vultures help stop the spread of diseases by cleaning up rotting carcasses.

20240510	00:05:00	00:50:00	THE RED LIST - SOUTHERN GROUND HORNBILL	The charismatic Southern Ground-Hornbill is a bird that many people already know well. They are culturally important as the 'thunder' or 'rain' birds and are a flagship species for the savannah biome. At present, Southern Ground-Hornbills are considered within South Africa as 'Endangered', with their numbers outside of formally protected areas still declining. It is likely that the birds will soon meet the IUCN Red Data List Criteria as being 'Critically Endangered' in South Africa. It's estimated that only 1500 Ground-Hornbills are left in South Africa, of which half are safe within the protected areas. This means there are only an estimated 417 breeding groups in the whole of South Africa, data shows that, on average, only one chick is raised to adulthood every 9 years. The reasons for their decline are predominantly loss of habitat to croplands, bush-encroachment, overgrazing and plantations, loss of nesting trees, secondary poisoning and electrocution.
20240510	00:50:00	01:20:00	MAX FOODIE: MAURITIUS - CHAPTER 2	Mauritius is the east African nation prosperously humming away, producing delicious African rum with it's abundant sugarcane supply; but the story is more than that! 20240510	01:20:00	02:05:00	THE RED LIST - CHEETAHS	The world's fastest land mammal is racing toward extinction, with the latest Cheetah census suggesting that the big cats, which are already few in number, may decline by an additional 53 percent over the next 15 years. Cheetah has been driven out of 91 percent of its historic range—the big cats once roamed nearly all of Africa and much of Asia, but their population is now confined predominantly to six African countries: Angola, Namibia, Zimbabwe, Botswana, South Africa, and Mozambique. The species is already almost extinct in Asia, with fewer than 50 individuals remaining in one isolated pocket of Iran. Cheetahs are getting killed directly, and then also their prey species are getting killed in these savannah areas, so the Cheetahs having nothing to subsist on.
20240510	02:05:00	02:50:00	THE LAST DESCENT	Africa's largest hydroelectric dam will flood 280 km of Ethiopia's Blue Nile River to provide 80% of Ethiopia's electricity. 20240510	06:00:00	06:45:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - THE ORIGIN OF 'CUISINE', S2 EP 7	Is Chinese cuisine, with its Confucian structure, really the origin of the world's great cuisines? Christine challenges top chefs in France, England, Italy, Greece, the US and Canada. Working with academics, chefs, food historians, and experts, Chef Cushing really sticks her neck out as she ventures into high profile kitchens, searching for connections and roots that might trace back to Confucius. Christine's journey takes her to some of the most important culinary schools in the world like Le Cordon Bleu in Paris, and Alma Culinary Center in Parma, Italy. Significant and thought-provoking, this journey leads us to a deeper appreciation of our global connection to our stories, our cultures and our traditions, and how they are connected through food. We look at our world, it's ethnicities and its races through a foodie filter.
20240510	06:45:00	07:15:00	MAX FOODIE: BANGKOK	Sashi is in Bangkok, Thailand and exploring the stories of the city's brightest culinary stars. Chef Ton takes Sashi to his favorite hang out spots to eat around Bangkok. In the next episode, Sashi is hanging out at the illustrious Sukhothai where he's having lunch with Chef David Tamburini, the head honcho at La Scala. Sashi gets a taste of David's ethos of naturalmente, where David brings Sicilian home-grown authenticity to Asia. After a fantastic meal, Sashi meets back up with Chef Ton and they embark on a field trip to Koh Sichang. Chef Ton wants to illustrate the lengths he goes to, in order to support his suppliers like his fishermen. Sashi and Ton head into the Gulf of Thailand on a daring boat ride to catch a blue spotted grouper - a journey that showcases the arduous task of what it means to be an ethical chef.

20240510	07:45:00	08:30:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE BITTER	The taste of Chinese medicinal herbs, bitter flavor is said to clear ""heat"", strengthen the stomach, and promote salivation. Bitterness is often found in Chinese cooking, but rarely used alone. Christine cooks a popular local bitter ingredient with Asian Food TV star Ili Sulaiman in Kuala Lumpur and makes a less than delicious visit to a Traditional Chinese Medicine shop, experiencing firsthand the power of bitter herbs. Christine is presented with a Chinese philosophy around bitter and learns how this philosophy applies to keeping Chinese heritage alive in Malaysia. The Chinese concept of "in bitter there is sweetness" is applied to immigration and restoration as Christine makes a memorial visit to Penang island where she meets the engaging and eccentric hotelier Christopher Ong.

20240510	08:30:00	09:25:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED MONTENEGRO	The land of mountains and pristine lakes! In this episode, Jonathan gets on a motorcycle to explore the countryside. He embarks on a Don-Quixote type journey, alluding to the origin story of author Miguel Cervantes and his 'supposed' stint in Montenegro, in a jail cell. Jonathan rides down the fantastically beautiful Kotor bay, learning about medieval armor and the city's history. While on his road trip, Jonathan also uncovers Tito's secret bunker, fully exploring the lavish estate on his own whims - as well as abandoned submarine silos, hidden bunkers from the Soviet era, and much more. No trip to Montenegro is complete without a visit to the countryside, this is where Jonathan comes across authentic cuisine, and a rescue mission with volunteers that patrol the harsh but beautiful mountains of Montenegro.
20240510	09:25:00	10:15:00	SKYSCRAPER IN 51 DAYS	A 40-meter high, 14-story apartment complex - erected in just 51 days. A construction boom in the Russian capital has been going on for years now. In 2017 the government decided to tear down communist apartment blocks (infamous for shoddy construction): around 4,000 buildings from the 1950s and 1960s are being replaced with modern high-rises. A politically significant infrastructure program - the pressure on construction companies is high.

20240510	15:10:00	15:50:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240510	22:50:00	23:35:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN PENGUINS	RhinThe African Penguin has been shifted from Vulnerable to Endangered on the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species, Birdlife International announced. African Penguins have been sliding towards extinction since industrial fishing started around the Cape. The last four years have seen a population crash. As the climate changes and fisheries transform the oceans, the world's African Penguins are in trouble. Young Penguins aren't able to take all the changes into account and are finding themselves 'trapped' in parts of the sea that can no longer support them even as better options are available.o poaching is currently at a crisis point. By the end of 2015, the number of African Rhinos killed by poachers had increased for the sixth year in a row with at least 1,338 Rhinos killed by poachers across Africa in 2015. These statistics are compiled by International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Species Survival Commission's African Rhino Specialist Group (AfRSG).

20240511	03:30:00	04:15:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240511	14:10:00	14:55:00	SEARCH FOR THE EDGE OF SPACE	The universe has long captivated us with its immense scales of distance and time. Many astronomers today have come to believe that what we can see represents only a small fraction of all there is. They are pioneering bold new theories that describe a cosmic landscape that extends far beyond the limits of our vision. What lies beyond the streams of galaxies that extend as far as our telescopes can see? Where does it all end? How do we fit within it?
20240511	14:55:00	15:40:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SWEET, S3 EP 2	Chinese cuisines use sugar very differently from Western cuisines, and Christine starts her comparison in Paris and Athens where she looks at how Westerners interpret 'sweet'. Traditionally, for the Chinese, sugar is predominantly used to achieve balance, but the liberal use of sugars in South East Asia Chinese cuisines are a culinary surprise. 'Sweet' is most traditionally found in the simple and omnipresent ingredient rice, so Cushing is off to the rice paddies of Malaysia follow the process of planting and processing.

20240512	05:15:00	05:35:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.

20240512	14:40:00	15:25:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SOUR, S3 EP 3	According to science humans are the only mammals that are attracted to sour. Chinese medicinal believes says that 'sour' can help digestion and whet the appetite. In 3 traditional Chinese cuisines it is often used for balance but in south East Asian versions of Chinese dishes it is often quite forward even becoming part of the name of a dish particularly in traditional Peranakan Chinese cuisines. A cuisine (and a people) that Christine discovers for the first time. Christine joins Malaysian celebrity Chef Wan for a one of a kind experience, cooking in a traditional old Peranakan kitchen and making the food of Chef Wan's heritage.
20240512	15:25:00	16:10:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 3	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240513	16:05:00	16:30:00	MAX FOODIE: THAILAND, EP 2	Americans are accustomed to Thai food but what you get in mainland Thailand is quite different than the local Thai joint in California. Which is better? Liesel embarks on a mission in Bangkok to understand the essence of what true Thai food is all about... Has America adulterated the authentic Thai way of cooking to suit palates? Or does Thailand have a lock on authentic and lesser known herbs, spices and techniques that never migrated over to America? Original or an international reversion? Liesel pokes around touristic districts interviewing foreigners, samples breakfast at bustling neighborhood joints, and of course, it wouldn't be Thailand without a bug eating escapade! A look at an iconic locals-only farmers market sets Liesel on an objective to source hard to find Thai ingredients that might not make it across to America. Is this why the Thai dishes in US taste so different to what you get in Thailand?

20240513	17:20:00	18:10:00	COLONY 8, ZHYTOMYR, UKRAINE	Ever wondered what really goes on behind the bars of the most dangerous prisons? Behind Bars takes you into prisons from around the world, and the true stories of inmates who find themselves inside maximum security lockdown, in the harshest conditions. Colony Eight – one of the toughest and most notorious prisons in Ukraine. It is said that no one has ever managed to escape from here! Over eight hundred prisoners are behind bars in Colony 8 under maximum security. Until twenty years ago, the guards even carried out death sentences at this prison. Not any more – the concept is now a different one. Plenty of "freedom" on the one hand, draconian punishment and military drill on the other. Combined with permanent supervision: Around seventy cameras in the buildings ensure that anything moving gets noticed. One section of the prison is particularly notorious – the wing for the one hundred and sixty lifers: If you end up in this wing, you have absolutely nothing to lose. Because in Ukraine, life imprisonment means: literally being behind bars until you die.

20240513	18:10:00	18:55:00	SEARCH FOR THE EDGE OF SPACE	The universe has long captivated us with its immense scales of distance and time. Many astronomers today have come to believe that what we can see represents only a small fraction of all there is. They are pioneering bold new theories that describe a cosmic landscape that extends far beyond the limits of our vision. What lies beyond the streams of galaxies that extend as far as our telescopes can see? Where does it all end? How do we fit within it?

20240514	03:30:00	04:15:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 4	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey;) I simply cannot wait for

20240515	05:15:00	06:00:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN ELEPHANTS	In a single decade between 1979 and 1989, half of all Africa's Elephants were lost to the ivory trade. For the next decade the trade lay dormant and African Elephant populations began to recover. But a new crisis was brewing, fueled by demand for ivory particularly in China where a demographic and economic boom had taken place. Between 2002 and 2011 Maisels et al (2013) estimate that the world's forest Elephant population was reduced by 62%. Our research estimates that the number of Elephants killed for their ivory between 2010 and 2012 was 100 000. The demand for ivory in the far East is the primary driver of the killing. In the four years up to 2014 the wholesale price of raw ivory in China tripled, reaching a per kilo dollar price of $2100.00

From trying out what the bustling city's vibrant street food scene has to offer, to the lesser known gems, including, venturing into India's only Chinatown and sampling their delicacies. A tale of walking food tours, hole in the wall joints serving up North Eastern dumplings, messy fish markets, and of course, the pride of Bengal, the Hilsa fish. Is Kolkata up to par with the other major metropolitan cities of India? This episode finds out exactly that!
20240516	06:25:00	06:50:00	HOW IT'S MADE - THE YACHT YARD, EP 1	The series "How Do They Make It" is a journey into the world of complex mechanisms surrounding contemporary man. It's a story about places where exceptional things are being created to make our travel, communication, work, and life easier. In every program, we visit a new place. Our series is about creating unique products but also about the commitment, passion, and work of the people who create them. Each set consists of five episodes about the most interesting production micro-worlds and their operations. The themes of the sets are very diverse – ranging from the big car factory to the traditional glassworks. In the first episode of this set, we visit one of the biggest Polish yacht yards - Northmann shipyard in Węgorzewo. This shipyard produces the popular sailing yachts Maxus and motorized yachts Nexus. In the program, we talk about designing and building yachts. We then show the subsequent stages of their production process, we meet the people who make them and who sail in them. The episode will also have a special guest, namely Szymon Kuczynski – who has sailed round the globe in the smallest, six-meter Maxus 22 yacht, produced at this shipyard.

20240516	17:10:00	17:50:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 5	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240517	01:50:00	02:40:00	VISITING - COLOR	Color: "The quality of an object or substance with respect to light reflected by the object, usually determined visually by measurement of hue, saturation, and brightness of the reflected light; saturation or chroma." A very robotic description of an incredibly dynamic property of the universe. Earth is a varied landscape of extremes of millions of colors. Through the lens of the "Visitor" we experience our mosaic landscape from a sense of imagination and wonder. "Why do these colors exist?" "What properties in nature create the conditions that these colors live in?" Using a scientific and artistic viewpoint we explore environments around the world that display the palette of the Earth. Life and Death, artificial and natural, the colors of the Earth exposes the kaleidoscope of this planet like never before...

20240517	15:30:00	16:15:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN ELEPHANTS	In a single decade between 1979 and 1989, half of all Africa's Elephants were lost to the ivory trade. For the next decade the trade lay dormant and African Elephant populations began to recover. But a new crisis was brewing, fueled by demand for ivory particularly in China where a demographic and economic boom had taken place. Between 2002 and 2011 Maisels et al (2013) estimate that the world's forest Elephant population was reduced by 62%. Our research estimates that the number of Elephants killed for their ivory between 2010 and 2012 was 100 000. The demand for ivory in the far East is the primary driver of the killing. In the four years up to 2014 the wholesale price of raw ivory in China tripled, reaching a per kilo dollar price of $2100.00

20240517	16:15:00	17:00:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE BITTER	The taste of Chinese medicinal herbs, bitter flavor is said to clear ""heat"", strengthen the stomach, and promote salivation. Bitterness is often found in Chinese cooking, but rarely used alone. Christine cooks a popular local bitter ingredient with Asian Food TV star Ili Sulaiman in Kuala Lumpur and makes a less than delicious visit to a Traditional Chinese Medicine shop, experiencing firsthand the power of bitter herbs. Christine is presented with a Chinese philosophy around bitter and learns how this philosophy applies to keeping Chinese heritage alive in Malaysia. The Chinese concept of "in bitter there is sweetness" is applied to immigration and restoration as Christine makes a memorial visit to Penang island where she meets the engaging and eccentric hotelier Christopher Ong.

20240517	19:00:00	19:40:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 4	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Caribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to all of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for
20240517	19:40:00	20:35:00	ZABARDAST	The intimate travel diary of an incredible Freeride expedition into the heart of the Karakoram range. The search for one of the most beautiful mountains to ski on the planet, standing at 5880m. An adventure so remote, so high, so committed that no mistakes were allowed. During five weeks, the crew pushed deeper and deeper inside Pakistan, with a 150 km loop in complete autonomy, pulling sleds filled with food, tents and solar panels across gigantic glaciers. As far from home as one can get. A meeting point of Freeriding and Mountaineering. A true adventure.

20240518	14:40:00	15:25:00	THE RED LIST - SOUTHERN GROUND HORNBILL	The charismatic Southern Ground-Hornbill is a bird that many people already know well. They are culturally important as the 'thunder' or 'rain' birds and are a flagship species for the savannah biome. At present, Southern Ground-Hornbills are considered within South Africa as 'Endangered', with their numbers outside of formally protected areas still declining. It is likely that the birds will soon meet the IUCN Red Data List Criteria as being 'Critically Endangered' in South Africa. It's estimated that only 1500 Ground-Hornbills are left in South Africa, of which half are safe within the protected areas. This means there are only an estimated 417 breeding groups in the whole of South Africa, data shows that, on average, only one chick is raised to adulthood every 9 years. The reasons for their decline are predominantly loss of habitat to croplands, bush-encroachment, overgrazing and plantations, loss of nesting trees, secondary poisoning and electrocution.

20240519	09:50:00	10:35:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN ELEPHANTS	In a single decade between 1979 and 1989, half of all Africa's Elephants were lost to the ivory trade. For the next decade the trade lay dormant and African Elephant populations began to recover. But a new crisis was brewing, fueled by demand for ivory particularly in China where a demographic and economic boom had taken place. Between 2002 and 2011 Maisels et al (2013) estimate that the world's forest Elephant population was reduced by 62%. Our research estimates that the number of Elephants killed for their ivory between 2010 and 2012 was 100 000. The demand for ivory in the far East is the primary driver of the killing. In the four years up to 2014 the wholesale price of raw ivory in China tripled, reaching a per kilo dollar price of $2100.00

How did it lose the crown to Scotland? To find out, he gets an adventure bike and charts course on a new mission; to find out about the collapse and resurgence of Irish whiskey. His ride takes him from Dublin to the Wild Atlantic way; the sketchy yet unbelievably scenic roads reveal legendary pubs, road bowling, sheep herding and a bout with Santa Claus! Jonathan comes across many iconic distilleries and learns how to become a true whiskey connoisseur; braving the treacherous country roads and weaving in the story of each distillery, will Jonathan survive the treacherous country roads and learn the true story of Irish whiskey? This is Ireland explored the RLT way.
20240520	10:25:00	11:10:00	SEARCH FOR THE EDGE OF SPACE	The universe has long captivated us with its immense scales of distance and time. Many astronomers today have come to believe that what we can see represents only a small fraction of all there is. They are pioneering bold new theories that describe a cosmic landscape that extends far beyond the limits of our vision. What lies beyond the streams of galaxies that extend as far as our telescopes can see? Where does it all end? How do we fit within it?

20240520	13:40:00	14:25:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240520	15:45:00	16:30:00	ISLAND HUNTER - PUERTO RICO, EP 4	Puerto Rico is one of the most popular vacation destinations for Americans, and it's easy to see why; everyone speaks English, it's easy to get to, and of course, it's still a part of the US! Host Liesel Hlista starts off her journey with a goal to feel at one with herself and the best way to do that is with a stint of yoga, atop a paddleboard. SUP yoga! Feeling centered, she begins exploring the island by taking a very detailed walking historical tour as well as a food tour. Bouncing around cantinas and trying out slushy drinks made with the local Don Q rum, Liesel gets a unique insight into old San Juan. To step up the action, Liesel also explores all the hands-on activities such as riding horseback on the beach, riding ATV's through the muddy swamps, and hiking through the super lush El Yunque rainforest. Luxurious resorts are only a stone's throw away - hopping islands, Liesel gets to experience the ultra modern and chic El Blok located in Vieques. Between stays at all the luxury boutique resorts, a common trend starts to appear, and that is the island's cuisine. Spanish influences, blended with American fine dining, Liesel gets a taste of the eclectic but high end cuisine spanning from top resorts, to

20240521	21:00:00	21:55:00	SKYSCRAPER IN 51 DAYS	A 40-meter high, 14-story apartment complex - erected in just 51 days. A construction boom in the Russian capital has been going on for years now. In 2017 the government decided to tear down communist apartment blocks (infamous for shoddy construction): around 4,000 buildings from the 1950s and 1960s are being replaced with modern high-rises. A politically significant infrastructure program - the pressure on construction companies is high.

20240521	21:55:00	22:35:00	DREAM JOURNEY EP 4	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240522	14:05:00	14:50:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN ELEPHANTS	In a single decade between 1979 and 1989, half of all Africa's Elephants were lost to the ivory trade. For the next decade the trade lay dormant and African Elephant populations began to recover. But a new crisis was brewing, fueled by demand for ivory particularly in China where a demographic and economic boom had taken place. Between 2002 and 2011 Maisels et al (2013) estimate that the world's forest Elephant population was reduced by 62%. Our research estimates that the number of Elephants killed for their ivory between 2010 and 2012 was 100 000. The demand for ivory in the far East is the primary driver of the killing. In the four years up to 2014 the wholesale price of raw ivory in China tripled, reaching a per kilo dollar price of $2100.00

20240523	05:10:00	06:00:00	COLONY 8, ZHYTOMYR, UKRAINE	Ever wondered what really goes on behind the bars of the most dangerous prisons? Behind Bars takes you into prisons from around the world, and the true stories of inmates who find themselves inside maximum security lockdown, in the harshest conditions. Colony Eight – one of the toughest and most notorious prisons in Ukraine. It is said that no one has ever managed to escape from here! Over eight hundred prisoners are behind bars in Colony 8 under maximum security. Until twenty years ago, the guards even carried out death sentences at this prison. Not any more – the concept is now a different one. Plenty of “freedom” on the one hand, draconian punishment and military drill on the other. Combined with permanent supervision: Around seventy cameras in the buildings ensure that anything moving gets noticed. One section of the prison is particularly notorious – the wing for the one hundred and sixty lifers: If you end up in this wing, you have absolutely nothing to lose. Because in Ukraine, life imprisonment means: literally being behind bars until you die.

African Penguins have been sliding towards extinction since industrial fishing started around the Cape. The last four years have seen a population crash. As the climate changes and fisheries transform the oceans, the world's African Penguins are in trouble. Young Penguins aren't able to take all the changes into account and are finding themselves 'trapped' in parts of the sea that can no longer support them even as better options are available.o poaching is currently at a crisis point. By the end of 2015, the number of African Rhinos killed by poachers had increased for the sixth year in a row with at least 1,338 Rhinos killed by poachers across Africa in 2015. These statistics are compiled by International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Species Survival Commission's African Rhino Specialist Group (AFRSG).

20240523	19:35:00	20:30:00	FOOD UNKNOWN - PHILIPPINES, EP 1	Food Unknown takes a detailed look at well known and less popular destinations to gain an intimate level of understanding why their cuisine hasn't reigned supreme? The nation of 7,000 islands has no problems with beach, sun, or sea; but they suffer tremendously with cuisine image. Jonathan lands in Manila to discover the top chefs are well aware of the issue and, following their advice, he launches off on an expedition to find part of the solution. Driving from headhunting tribal villages, to step-back-in-time colonial towns, to restaurants in the shadow of the American military behemoth an intriguing story slowly pieces together. In the dense jungle one treasure stays buried while another comes literally out of the woodwork. But danger always lurks.. zombie moray eels, landslide prone passes, and forbidden fields behind the rice paddies.

The weather: steaming hot. Not your ideal preconditions for an outdoor project of impossible proportions: constructing a railway underpass in five hours. Is it even possible to build a complete railway underpass in that short amount of time? Provided 150 workers, six excavators, and two heavy-duty cranes, all work in perfect coordination and planning, it is.
20240523	23:20:00	00:10:00	ROAD LESS TRAVELED VIETNAM	Jonathan is back in Vietnam! Viewers might remember his jaunts in Hanoi from Season 2, where he picked up locals on his tandem bicycle in an effort to learn their stories. This time, Jonathan's goal is more ambitious: still on 2 wheels, but now with a motor, he heads south all the way from Hanoi to Ho Chi Minh. In this epic voyage, he is in search of Vietnam's modern day heroes; he uncovers the tale of farm rebellions, underground bunkers, a novel martial art cultivated in the farmlands, an underground village that survived countless American bombings, hidden amphitheaters, and the legendary Champa ruins. Between countless roadtrip-style stops, foodie finds, crossing the Hai Van pass, and coming across fascinating stories in his final destination of Ho Chi Minh, this is the best way to coronate season 5 - a proper motorcycle road trip through Vietnam.

20240524	07:40:00	08:25:00	THE RED LIST - VULTURES	Six of Africa's 11 Vulture species – the continent's largest and most recognizable birds of prey – are now at a higher risk of extinction, according to the latest assessment of birds carried out by BirdLife International for the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species™. The main causes of the drop in African Vulture populations are thought to be indiscriminate poisonings, where the birds are drawn to poisoned baits, use of Vulture body parts in traditional medicine, and deliberate targeting by poachers, as the presence of Vultures can alert authorities to illegally killed big game carcasses. Robbing the African skies of one of their most iconic and spectacular groups of birds, the rapid decline of the continent's Vultures has profound consequences for its people – as Vultures help stop the spread of diseases by cleaning up rotting carcasses.
20240524	08:25:00	08:50:00	BLUE WORLD - TIGER SHARK AS A CAMERA OPERATOR + FLORIDA CAVE DIVING	Jonathan joins an expedition to recruit a new Blue World camera operator in the form of a 1,000 pound Tiger shark! 20240525	03:10:00	03:55:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE BITTER	The taste of Chinese medicinal herbs, bitter flavor is said to clear ""heat"", strengthen the stomach, and promote salivation. Bitterness is often found in Chinese cooking, but rarely used alone. Christine cooks a popular local bitter ingredient with Asian Food TV star Ili Sulaiman in Kuala Lumpur and makes a less than delicious visit to a Traditional Chinese Medicine shop, experiencing firsthand the power of bitter herbs. Christine is presented with a Chinese philosophy around bitter and learns how this philosophy applies to keeping Chinese heritage alive in Malaysia. The Chinese concept of "in bitter there is sweetness" is applied to immigration and restoration as Christine makes a memorial visit to Penang island where she meets the engaging and eccentric hotelier Christopher Ong.

But this region is usually overshadowed by it's more famous neighboring cities, Florence and Venice. To understand the food of this region, Liesel explores the quaint sea-side town of Rimini and the hugely impressive Bologna. It's a tale of discovering local foodie passion that allows Liesel to hunt for truffles and try her hand in making her own gelato, a the world's only Gelato University!
20240525	06:25:00	07:15:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SWEET, S3 EP 2	Chinese cuisines use sugar very differently from Western cuisines, and Christine starts her comparison in Paris and Athens where she looks at how Westerners interpret 'sweet'. Traditionally, for the Chinese, sugar is predominantly used to achieve balance, but the liberal use of sugars in South East Asia Chinese cuisines are a culinary surprise. 'Sweet' is most traditionally found in the simple and omnipresent ingredient rice, so Cushing is off to the rice paddies of Malaysia follow the process of planting and processing.

20240525	08:05:00	08:50:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

20240527	05:35:00	06:00:00	MAX FOODIE: THAILAND, EP 2	Americans are accustomed to Thai food but what you get in mainland Thailand is quite different than the local Thai joint in California. Which is better? Liesel embarks on a mission in Bangkok to understand the essence of what true Thai food is all about... Has America adulterated the authentic Thai way of cooking to suit palates? Or does Thailand have a lock on authentic and lesser known herbs, spices and techniques that never migrated over to America? Original or an international reversion? Liesel pokes around touristic districts interviewing foreigners, samples breakfast at bustling neighborhood joints, and of course, it wouldn't be Thailand without a bug eating escapade! A look at an iconic locals-only farmers market sets Liesel on an objective to source hard to find Thai ingredients that might not make it across to America. Is this why the Thai dishes in US taste so different to what you get in Thailand?

20240527	06:00:00	06:45:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE BITTER	The taste of Chinese medicinal herbs, bitter flavor is said to clear ""heat"", strengthen the stomach, and promote salivation. Bitterness is often found in Chinese cooking, but rarely used alone. Christine cooks a popular local bitter ingredient with Asian Food TV star Ili Sulaiman in Kuala Lumpur and makes a less than delicious visit to a Traditional Chinese Medicine shop, experiencing firsthand the power of bitter herbs. Christine is presented with a Chinese philosophy around bitter and learns how this philosophy applies to keeping Chinese heritage alive in Malaysia. The Chinese concept of "in bitter there is sweetness" is applied to immigration and restoration as Christine makes a memorial visit to Penang island where she meets the engaging and eccentric hotelier Christopher Ong.

20240527	10:10:00	10:55:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - THE ORIGIN OF 'CUISINE', S2 EP 7	Is Chinese cuisine, with its Confucian structure, really the origin of the world's great cuisines? Christine challenges top chefs in France, England, Italy, Greece, the US and Canada. Working with academics, chefs, food historians, and experts, Chef Cushing really sticks her neck out as she ventures into high profile kitchens, searching for connections and roots that might trace back to Confucius. Christine's journey takes her to some of the most important culinary schools in the world like Le Cordon Bleu in Paris, and Alma Culinary Center in Parma, Italy. Significant and thought-provoking, this journey leads us to a deeper appreciation of our global connection to our stories, our cultures and our traditions, and how they are connected through food. We look at our world, it's ethnicities and its races through a foodie filter.
20240527	10:55:00	11:45:00	THE RED LIST - SOUTHERN GROUND HORNBILL	The charismatic Southern Ground-Hornbill is a bird that many people already know well. They are culturally important as the 'thunder' or 'rain' birds and are a flagship species for the savannah biome. At present, Southern Ground-Hornbills are considered within South Africa as 'Endangered', with their numbers outside of formally protected areas still declining. It is likely that the birds will soon meet the IUCN Red Data List Criteria as being 'Critically Endangered' in South Africa. It's estimated that only 1500 Ground-Hornbills are left in South Africa, of which half are safe within the protected areas. This means there are only an estimated 417 breeding groups in the whole of South Africa, data shows that, on average, only one chick is raised to adulthood every 9 years. The reasons for their decline are predominantly loss of habitat to croplands, bush-encroachment, overgrazing and plantations, loss of nesting trees, secondary poisoning and electrocution.
20240527	11:45:00	12:40:00	GOING BEYOND - PATTAYA AND PHAI, EP 4	We continue to explore Thailand and go to Pattaya. 20240528	21:00:00	21:45:00	THE RED LIST - CHEETAHS	The world's fastest land mammal is racing toward extinction, with the latest Cheetah census suggesting that the big cats, which are already few in number, may decline by an additional 53 percent over the next 15 years. Cheetah has been driven out of 91 percent of its historic range—the big cats once roamed nearly all of Africa and much of Asia, but their population is now confined predominantly to six African countries: Angola, Namibia, Zimbabwe, Botswana, South Africa, and Mozambique. The species is already almost extinct in Asia, with fewer than 50 individuals remaining in one isolated pocket of Iran. Cheetahs are getting killed directly, and then also their prey species are getting killed in these savannah areas, so the Cheetahs having nothing to subsist on.

20240529	03:45:00	04:10:00	MAX FOODIE: THAILAND, EP 2	Americans are accustomed to Thai food but what you get in mainland Thailand is quite different than the local Thai joint in California. Which is better? Liesel embarks on a mission in Bangkok to understand the essence of what true Thai food is all about... Has America adulterated the authentic Thai way of cooking to suit palates? Or does Thailand have a lock on authentic and lesser known herbs, spices and techniques that never migrated over to America? Original or an international reversion? Liesel pokes around touristic districts interviewing foreigners, samples breakfast at bustling neighborhood joints, and of course, it wouldn't be Thailand without a bug eating escapade! A look at an iconic locals-only farmers market sets Liesel on an objective to source hard to find Thai ingredients that might not make it across to America. Is this why the Thai dishes in US taste so different to what you get in Thailand?

Fewer than 20 people have ever been allowed to dive in this otherworldly cave system.
20240529	09:45:00	10:30:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN ELEPHANTS	In a single decade between 1979 and 1989, half of all Africa's Elephants were lost to the ivory trade. For the next decade the trade lay dormant and African Elephant populations began to recover. But a new crisis was brewing, fueled by demand for ivory particularly in China where a demographic and economic boom had taken place. Between 2002 and 2011 Maisels et al (2013) estimate that the world's forest Elephant population was reduced by 62%. Our research estimates that the number of Elephants killed for their ivory between 2010 and 2012 was 100 000. The demand for ivory in the far East is the primary driver of the killing. In the four years up to 2014 the wholesale price of raw ivory in China tripled, reaching a per kilo dollar price of $2100.00
20240529	10:30:00	11:25:00	HORSES	No other animal has influenced our lives as much as the horse. Our entire history is indivisibly linked to this animal. This documentary portrays a relationship that goes far beyond what we imagine. Although the use of horses has fallen drastically since the start of the Industrial Revolution, our hearts still beat as one; when we look through their eyes, we see ourselves. When we think of free- dom... of harmony... of beauty... of nobility... of strength... of speed... we think of horses as a reference point... HORSES

20240529	11:25:00	12:15:00	COLONY 8, ZHYTOMYR, UKRAINE	Ever wondered what really goes on behind the bars of the most dangerous prisons? Behind Bars takes you into prisons from around the world, and the true stories of inmates who find themselves inside maximum security lockdown, in the harshest conditions. Colony Eight – one of the toughest and most notorious prisons in Ukraine. It is said that no one has ever managed to escape from here! Over eight hundred prisoners are behind bars in Colony 8 under maximum security. Until twenty years ago, the guards even carried out death sentences at this prison. Not any more – the concept is now a different one. Plenty of “freedom” on the one hand, draconian punishment and military drill on the other. Combined with permanent supervision: Around seventy cameras in the buildings ensure that anything moving gets noticed. One section of the prison is particularly notorious – the wing for the one hundred and sixty lifers: If you end up in this wing, you have absolutely nothing to lose. Because in Ukraine, life imprisonment means: literally being behind bars until you die.
20240529	12:15:00	12:50:00	MAX FOODIE: BANGKOK	Sashi is in Bangkok, Thailand and exploring the stories of the city’s brightest culinary stars. Chef Ton takes Sashi to his favorite hang out spots to eat around Bangkok. In the next episode, Sashi is hanging out at the illustrious Sukhothai where he’s having lunch with Chef David Tamburini, the head honcho at La Scala. Sashi gets a taste of David’s ethos of naturalmente, where David brings Sicilian home-grown authenticity to Asia. After a fantastic meal, Sashi meets back up with Chef Ton and they embark on a field trip to Koh Sichang. Chef Ton wants to illustrate the lengths he goes to, in order to support his suppliers like his fishermen. Sashi and Ton head into the Gulf of Thailand on a daring boat ride to catch a blue spotted grouper - a journey that showcases the arduous task of what it means to be an ethical chef.
20240529	12:50:00	13:30:00	DREAM JOURNEY - CUNCUM - MEXICO, EP 1	February 2017 saw me embark upon a travel expedition through Scotland, Poland, France, Mexico, Belize and, (alas!), back. Not only was it the first time I ventured out to Central America, but also the first time I seriously pushed my bravery boundaries to do a whole lot of things I'd never tried before. I defeated my life-long fear of scuba diving and skydiving, (the Carribbean vistas do help! - No danger I'd do that again in Aberdeen), I went zip-lining over a Mexican jungle, I tried habanero-packed streetfood, (failed at that miserably), and organic tequila, (managed that better;), I climbed a Maya pyramid in the middle of a Belizean rainforest and fed hibiscus flowers to a very extravagant donkey. Most importantly, however, I got to know some incredible people - from shamans, wanderers and artists to refugees, businesswomen and expat cowboys. And thanks to aaaall of that, I also got to know a little bit more about myself for visiting the most remote corners of our planet reminds you how different and yet how similar we all are. I'm looking forward to sharing my incredible experience in 5 exciting episodes of our travel series, which really turned out to be a Dream Journey:) I simply cannot wait for

This notion gets shattered as he experiences the onslaught of food in Mexico city! Between trying scorpion tacos and dodging shady markets in San Juan, he learns the dark art of sacred drinks, like pulque and mezcal, now turned into social libations. His journey also takes him to Oaxaca where he gets the low down on the fabled Mole sauce, and a long haul to a remote village reveals a secret ceremony that has origins of dark arts!
20240531	05:15:00	06:00:00	THE RED LIST - AFRICAN PENGUINS	RhinThe African Penguin has been shifted from Vulnerable to Endangered on the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species, Birdlife International announced. African Penguins have been sliding towards extinction since industrial fishing started around the Cape. The last four years have seen a population crash. As the climate changes and fisheries transform the oceans, the world's African Penguins are in trouble. Young Penguins aren't able to take all the changes into account and are finding themselves 'trapped' in parts of the sea that can no longer support them even as better options are available.o poaching is currently at a crisis point. By the end of 2015, the number of African Rhinos killed by poachers had increased for the sixth year in a row with at least 1,338 Rhinos killed by poachers across Africa in 2015. These statistics are compiled by International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Species Survival Commission's African Rhino Specialist Group (AfRSG).
20240531	06:00:00	06:45:00	SEARCH FOR THE EDGE OF SPACE	The universe has long captivated us with its immense scales of distance and time. Many astronomers today have come to believe that what we can see represents only a small fraction of all there is. They are pioneering bold new theories that describe a cosmic landscape that extends far beyond the limits of our vision. What lies beyond the streams of galaxies that extend as far as our telescopes can see? Where does it all end? How do we fit within it?

20240531	06:45:00	07:30:00	CONFUCIUS WAS A FOODIE - SOUR, S3 EP 3	According to science humans are the only mammals that are attracted to sour. Chinese medicinal believes says that 'sour' can help digestion and whet the appetite. In 3 traditional Chinese cuisines it is often used for balance but in south East Asian versions of Chinese dishes it is often quite forward even becoming part of the name of a dish particularly in traditional Peranakan Chinese cuisines. A cuisine (and a people) that Christine discovers for the first time. Christine joins Malaysian celebrity Chef Wan for a one of a kind experience, cooking in a traditional old Peranakan kitchen and making the food of Chef Wan's heritage.

20240531	15:20:00	16:10:00	THE RED LIST - VULTURES	Six of Africa's 11 Vulture species – the continent's largest and most recognizable birds of prey – are now at a higher risk of extinction, according to the latest assessment of birds carried out by BirdLife International for the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species™. The main causes of the drop in African Vulture populations are thought to be indiscriminate poisonings, where the birds are drawn to poisoned baits, use of Vulture body parts in traditional medicine, and deliberate targeting by poachers, as the presence of Vultures can alert authorities to illegally killed big game carcasses. Robbing the African skies of one of their most iconic and spectacular groups of birds, the rapid decline of the continent's Vultures has profound consequences for its people – as Vultures help stop the spread of diseases by cleaning up rotting carcasses.
